Nifty from the Last Initiative

May 2003-2005

Historic Preservation efforts are usually focused on buildings constructed at least 50 years ago, but what about the newer buildings we want to save for tomorrow?

The Office of Archaeology & Historic Preservation (OAHP) and DOCOMOMOWEWA are conducting a public architectural survey to encourage the discussion and appreciation of architecture that best represents the last 50 years. Is there a post 1950 building in your community you hope will still exist in 50 years?

Have an open mind! The building doesn't have to be an architectural masterpiece. It could simply be an example of everyday architecture of the period. You may want to survey a skyscraper, your home, a church, a gas station, roadside architecture or even your local strip mall. Just fill out the survey below and include at least one photograph. Feel free to attach additional pages to provide more information.

Please send or email the survey to the address below. If you have questions or would like more information, please contact Michael Houser, Architectural Historian, Office of Archaeology & Historic Preservation, at (360)586-3076 or log on to www.oahp.wa.gov. Thank you for your participation.
